👤 PROFILE

I'm a third-year software development student with a strong foundation in programming and web development. As a beginner, I have hands-on experience with Python, JavaScript, HTML, CSS, and React, and have built several simple web applications. I'm learning data structures, algorithms. I enjoy problem-solving, and applying my skills to real-world projects. Eager to grow as a developer, I'm excited to learn more and contribute to professional software development.
